PRICE THREE CENTS

Choral Society In Musical Festival At Bryn Mawr

Forty Members of Philadelphia Orchestra And Two Famous Soloists to Assist

Josephine Luchese

All of this unusual music and talent can be enjoyed in the cool of the evening, with nature's own beautiful background, and her breezes blending the birds' twilight lullabies with the harmony of many human throats.

You rarely hear a combination of trained voices, internationally famed orchestra, and two famous operatic soloists.

It was most fortunate that Prof. Nice could secure Luchese, the nightingale, that won such applause and praise last season. At present, she is singing operatic roles in Havana with Martinelli, Schipio, Ruffo, etc., where they opened a new five million dollar opera house. Too much plaudits cannot be given to this brilliant coloratura soprano. It is worth many times the price of admission to hear her alone, notwithstanding the other attractive features arranged for June 2. She brought her hearers to their feet in the Manhattan Opera House when she sang the role of "Gilda" in "Rigoletto," and, when she sang "Caro Nome" in New York, she was demanded to come before the curtain fourteen times. She was accorded an ovation seldom tendered any artist in Buffalo in her rendition of the taxing "Mad Scene" and aroused the house to such a pitch of enthusiasm that even the members of the orchestra rose and joined in the acclamations. Josephine Luchese is an American born of Italian parents, and having her home in San Antonio, Texas. She recently married Captain Caruso, who is her manager.

Signor Ciro De Ritis, the Italian baritone of note, is arranging, by special request, several operatic arias and brilliant songs. He has sung many leading roles in the prominent opera houses through Italy, as well as in America.

As the soloists will render music of great technique and artistry, Prof. Nice has selected numbers for the Chorus of swinging theme and appealing harmony. The singers have been assiduously rehearsing for the past several weeks in an effort to make this one of the very best concerts ever heard in this part of the country.

There is a threefold interest attaching to this Festival. In addition to the musical interest, there is the local interest, which manifests itself in any affair given in the vicinity, and which is always ready to lend a hand, whether it is to help construct a grandstand or sell the tickets. But the interest is not only local, for, considering the universal appeal of the highest class music, the city of Philadelphia and the surrounding suburbs are expected to turn out for this "treat."

Miss Luchese is now in Havana singing in the new opera house there, and winning fresh laurels. Her voice has been acclaimed all over the country as having a luscious quality, and her personal appearance has been the inspiration of much admiration. Signor De Ritis was heard in recital on May 6 at the Bellevue Stratford Hotel. The Philadelphia musical critics were unanimous in praising his fine voice and unusual range.

The third interest is the charitable one. The Seamen's Church Institute needs no introduction to those who have any welfare work at heart. The men and women of Philadelphia who have worked indefatigably in order to raise the sums necessary to construct a new building for seamen, are rallying around to help make the festival a huge success, now that their goal is within $40,000 of being reached. The new building will help to make the Port of Philadelphia even more worthy of civic pride, for it will increase the facilities for taking care of seamen while in port.

The genuineness of purpose which the committee as a whole is manifesting is shown, also, by the fact that a number of the women who have pledged themselves to "put over" the Festival have postponed their departures for Europe, and others are keeping their town houses open two weeks longer than is their custom, just to be on hand when June 2 arrives.

The chairman of the Bryn Mawr Auxiliary of the Seamen's Church Institute is Mrs. Stanley G. Flagg, Jr.; of the Wayne Auxiliary, Mrs. A. A. Parker, and of the Overbrook Auxiliary, Mrs. Thomas Duncan Whelen. The members of the committees are as follows:

Mrs. Stanley G. Flagg, Jr., chairman, Bryn Mawr Auxiliary; Mrs. S. Griswell Flagg, 3rd, Mrs. Anthony J. Geyelin, Mrs. Henry Pepper Vaux, Mrs. Edward S. Narberth Drops a Close One

Season Promises a Wonderful Brand of Ball

Narberth's biggest achievement in the past week has been the 15-1 victory over St. John's C. C. It was an exhibition of quality baseball that promises well for future games.

Cullen Cain, sporting editor of the Public Ledger, waxed very enthusiastic over this playing. His comments on the game, and on the Narberth team are well worth including in "Our Town."

It was a great day for Diehn, pitching for the Narberth club of the Main Line League. In the twilight game last Tuesday against the St. John's Club, of Bridesburg, the young pitcher held the visitors to one run and himself slugged out a home-run hit that passed clear over the little creek that spans the Narberth grounds. Diehn walked in from third base while the Bridesburg center fielder was still searching in the woods on the hill across the creek for the ball. Talk about your lost balls. They will never find that ball until they clear out that patch of woods and build houses on that hill. And the score was 15 to 1.

Diehn held the enemy to three measly and widely scattered hits up to the last inning, when Dubek, the catcher, hit a homer that disappeared from view in the gathering gloom. On the other hand, the Narberth batsmen had no trouble at all after the first inning in finding the slants of Mroz, the Bridesburg Boy. Harvey Humphries, hitting hero of the day, brought in the first Narberth run, when he doubled with a runner on. The blow shook the Bridesburg morale, and after Vernon Fleck had walked, Patrick smote a wicked grounder toward third which Janus let pass and two more runs came rolling over the plate.

The End of Mroz

Humphries led the next assault by hitting a triple after two men had walked. Mroz stiffened under the heavy fire in the fourth and held the Narberth sluggers away from the plate. Again in the fifth he pitched good ball, but Narberth squeezed in a run by virtue of a walk, a passed ball and a wild throw to second. Smart, fast work here, and bearing testimony to the coaching of Bill Crowell, the astute manager.

But they took Mroz out in the sixth. They evidently did not think he was effective, and when you come to examine the score by innings up to that period you cannot blame them, for eight runs had been marked up against the offerings of the pitcher with the unpronounceable name. But not since Napoleon invaded Russia and lost his grand army in the snow has a greater mistake been made by the leaders of men. Sykes, the left-hander, selected to take up the burden on the hill, walked the first man, the next batsman was safe on an infield hit and then George Fleck singled cleanly and two runs came in. Another walk from the generous Sykes and Heckel, the Narberth center fielder, crashed out a double that rolled clear to the shore of the little creek. The massacre had begun, and the killers did not cease until they had scored seven runs, Diehn's historic homer being among them.

The Home Brand

Twilight baseball in the suburban towns along the Main Line is different from the city brand, in that all the players must live in the town in which they play. Most of Bill Crowell's boys were born and raised in Narberth. Most of the crowd that fringed the field had known these boys ever since they had first walked unwillingly to school. Different cries greeted the ears from the rooting one hears in the city stands, where the crowds cheer a team, a name, a cause, an individual; out there in Narberth they were calling to lads they had known well for years. They were more restrained in the cheers, but the feeling over a great play was deeper; it seemed to me, and pride in that play and the talk of it will last longer, I firmly believe.

Community baseball played by strictly home boys has a grip all its own. And the people of that community get mighty close together when they come out to the field and watch the sun go down upon the battle where the home guards held the fort against the foe.

YES! WE HAD NO BANANAS!

But we had everything else that's good to eat at the Tennis Club Supper last Saturday evening. If you don't believe us, just make your reservation for next Saturday to Mrs. J. W. Darville, Merion Ave., before Friday noon, and see for yourself. Judging from the laughter that emanated from the Club House everyone had a good time and made up their minds to come again and often. Saturday's menu, if handed to you in a restaurant or dining car, would read something like this:

Roast Beef
New Potatoes
Hot Rolls
Mixed Salad
Ice Cream
Fresh Peas
Coffee

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Narberth Tennis Association are giving a good bit of time and thought each week to give you and your friends a really worth while supper each Saturday evening. The initial affair last week was really a complete success—both in the culinary line and as a social get-together time. A hearty invitation is extended to all members of the Tennis Association and their friends to attend these suppers and become acquainted with their fellows.

BOY INJURED

Ralph Stoughton, six, son of S. J. Stoughton, of 219 Forest Avenue, was injured by an auto on Wednesday.

The motorist, Frederick Wible, of Grove Place, took the boy to the Bryn Mawr Hospital.

IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Samuel T. Atherholt, Narberth builder, was slightly injured last Wednesday when his car overturned near Malvern. One other occupant of the car was killed in the accident, resulting from an attempt to pass a car on the road with too close a margin.

The Bellfield team of Germantown are to play our boys at the Narberth Tennis Club courts today.

BUS WRECKED

One of the cars of the Narberth Bus Company was smashed up last Wednesday at Windsor and Essex Avenues. The bus was approaching the corner, coming down Essex Avenue, when a truck, driven by Patrick McCabe, a Cynwyd contractor, speeded down Windsor Ave.

According to eye witnesses the two cars did not strike, but each swerved to avoid the other. The bus, driven by Frank Sylvester, smashed into a pole at the corner, wrecking the front of the machine. How the driver escaped alive is something of a mystery, for the seat in which he had been sitting was demolished.

Five occupants of the bus were slightly injured, two of whom were taken to the Bryn Mawr Hospital for treatment. None of the injured lived in Narberth.

The truck also swerved, and ran up on a bank. It was not much damaged. The wrecked bus was taken to the garage, and another put in service at once, so that the regular schedule was resumed promptly.

SPECIAL MUSICAL SERVICE

The Choir of All Saints Church, Wynnewood, will render an unusual musical program on Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service. This is the last service at which the full choir will sing this season. The service will be Choral Morning Prayer sung to the Russian setting unaccompanied, arranged by N. Lindsey Norden. Service intoned by Mr. Hutt. The program is as follows:

Te Deum in C Jordan
Jubilate in B flat Stanford

With Piano and Organ Accompaniment. Pianist, Mrs. G. W. Klinger, of Wynnewood.
I Saw the Lord Stainer
Double Chorus with Solo Quartette.

UNANIMOUS

The Happiness Committee of the Narberth Tennis Club were hitting on all twelve cylinders when they put on the last dance of the season, Friday, May 18th. The hall never looked prettier, decorations being in red, white, and blue. The punch bowl was lighted from overhead by a large electric lighted dome, and the entire stage was draped with American flags, and in the foreground a lattice work interwound with roses made a most attractive setting for Raith's Orchestra, who played music such as is seldom heard in Narberth.

Many out of town guests of members were present, Mr. and Mrs. James C. McKell topping the list with a party of seven friends. The following also entertained: Mr. and Mrs. John D. Bree, Mr. and Mrs. Carl B. Metzger, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. E. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Paige, also Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Miller.
Take it all in all, it was a party long to be remembered.

Legion Completing Plans for Memorial Day Parade

Memorial Service Sunday At Baptist Church

Pursuant to the plan to rotate the Church services for the Legion Memorial Day, the Baptist Church will conduct the ceremony. Members of the local Post are to assemble in front of the Fire House and march to the Church. Owing to the fact that services start at eleven o'clock, the Legionnaires are to assemble promptly at ten thirty. It is urged that as many as possible attend. It might be well to remind them that by coming they pay their respects to those who remain on the other side.

The Legion Auxiliary will meet the column at the Church and march in with them.

Plans for the Memorial Day parade are going on apace. The meeting held last Monday night promised ample co-operation on the part of the organizations invited to participate by the local Legion Post. Great excitement prevailed at the suggestion that the head of each organization be mounted on a carrying charger, and it looks as if Mr. Markle will be besieged with requests for mounts.

The Legion is particularly anxious to have the active participation of the G. A. R., and have gotten in touch with one member. It is desired that anyone knowing a Civil War veteran living here to communicate with Mr. Fretz or Mr. Bergner so that they may be invited to participate and take the place of honor as is their due. It has been felt that many of the G. A. R. men will turn out with their own posts on Memorial Day, but it seems probable that they will be able to turn out next Sunday for the Church services. With that end in view, all G. A. R. men will be invited to participate. An open car will be put at their disposal and they will head the march to the Church.

So far all the talk has been about the G. A. R. and the Legion, but the services are for ALL veterans, whether they be Legionnaires, Civil, Spanish, or World War.

The Legion men would be very glad to have the veterans of the Spanish War join in with them in these services and would extend invitations to each man personally if they were but known. Information concerning them will be appreciated.

Actual plans, such as order of march, etc., will be determined on the spot according to the relative strength of numbers of the various organizations. It is definitely settled, however, that the Navy men will not be file closers!

The Memorial Day services depend on the attendance of the participants, and it is up to them to make or mar them.

GENERAL RULES RESPECTING THE FLAG ARE AS FOLLOWS:

It should never be festooned, but always hung flat or open.
As an altar-covering the starry field should be at the right as you face the altar.

Before being half-masted, the flag should be run to the staff-head and lowered to half-mast, and when half-masted and about to be hauled down, it should be must-headed before being hauled down.

No other flag should be hoisted above the American flag, except the white triangle and the blue cross of the church pennant.

When the flag is carried with other flags in a parade the national colors claim the place of honor at the right of the other flags, and is never dipped.
When you drape the American flag with that of another color or banner of an organization, always place the national colors at the right.

When the flag is hung in a horizontal position the starry field is

LOOKING FORWARD

Those who have kept in touch with Narberth affairs cannot have failed to have noticed the increase of activity on the part of the Narberth Fire Company. Not only activity in putting out innumerable wood's fires, but activity in their organization.

The Narberth Fire Company now has an excellent and permanent organization. It is a part of the Borough government, yet maintains its independent volunteer status. Charles V. Noel is Chief Engineer under the Borough officers, and the organization and personnel are at a high standard.

With this accomplished, the time for improvement and a moving forward is apparent. The company is one of the best in this part of the country, fast and efficient. But it needs new equipment. The growth of the territory, and the wearing out of old apparatus mean replacements.

It is the hope of the Company that a large part, perhaps all of the funds for such equipment may be raised in the communities other than Narberth that our company serves. There would undoubtedly be a quick response in the Borough to requests for aid, but Narberth will have other features to take care of.

Big plans are under way, and the citizens now hope and feel that the Fire Company will be the organization, to offer substantial improvements to our town affairs. There are rumors of extensions to Elm Hall, of a larger auditorium, of a meeting place for the American Legion, and of other features whose need has long been felt in the Borough.

Nothing has yet been announced. The company has been attending to its important function of putting out fires, and, on the side, has been thinking, and planning, and preparing.

When the plans are matured, and when the Fire Company comes forth to ask the support of the citizens, it will be forthcoming with enthusiasm. Of all the organizations in Narberth, the Fire Company gives the greatest service for the least financial tax on the citizens. A three dollar membership fee is all they ask of every resident—a small sum in the face of the annual bombardments of ticket sales, donations, fairs, and membership dues of the other Narberth activities.

Every resident should take an active and intelligent interest in these unfolding plans. We are looking forward to big things, and the time is nearly ripe.

PEDESTRIANS AND AUTOMOBILES

The abuse of automobile driving by many incompetent and reckless operators has become a national scandal. Still the fault for accidents is not wholly with the man at the steering wheel. The pedestrian must take some share of it.

It would seem to be a matter of common prudence in these times, for people who cross streets in any city street or town centre, to look both ways for cars. The habit ought to be automatic. The machine that comes tearing over the crosswalk at a far too rapid rate may be all in the wrong, but it is more important to the pedestrian to have his neck than to compete for the right of way.

Pedestrians as well as automobiles are too anxious to save every second, and too impatient about waiting a moment until a jam of traffic passes. In most places if people wait only for a brief instant, the cars that occupy the street will pass, and they can cross in peace and safety. But many have so little self control that they can't wait a few seconds, and they may fail to notice some cars coming from an unseen direction.

The habit of "jay walking" of crossing the streets at irregular angles, is one that makes trouble in many locations. If pedestrians will form the habit of crossing at recognized places where they have the right to do so, motorists will be better able to look out for them.

A favorite trick of heedless pedestrians is to start to cross a street at an irregular place, coming out from behind some car parked against the curb. The person who thus appears in an unexpected spot is the terror of the careful motorist, and the victim of the careless one. The time has come in places where traffic is at all congested, when people must give up these irregular ways and learn to cross in the places appointed for them. If pedestrians expect operators to use care, they must set an example of obedience to the regulations and customs governing their own conduct.

PROTECTING THE BIRDS

The opinion is commonly held by the older people that birds are not as numerous as they used to be. The growth of destructive insect pests suggests that the birds that were provided by nature to keep them down, are so depleted that they cannot perform their function. The American people are paying billions of dollars annually in losses by insects for failure to protect the birds that ought to be keeping these insects down.

The destruction of forests and tree growth that naturally affords shelter, must have a tendency to restrict bird life. Many people claim they are killed by eating the poisons with which fruit trees and crops are sprayed.

People should, therefore, do everything they can to favor the feathered friends that are having such a hard time. The more trees and shrubbery are planted, the more birds will come and nest in towns and villages and around people's homes, and thus be on hand to guard the gardens and farms of thickly settled sections. Well protected birdhouses so arranged that the cats will not get them, must be helpful in encouraging bird life and its presence in populated communities.

Birds that are useful in destroying insects ought not to be killed in any section of the country for game purposes. It seems preposterous, when a species of birds is needed to protect the valuable crops of certain sections, if hunters of this section or other parts of the country where they migrate, are permitted to kill them to eat or sell to the markets.

The man who kills an insect eating bird helps destroy the country's food and its business prosperity. Penalties should be placed on such destruction that would keep the pothunters and their guns at home.

HEARD FROM THE SIDELINES

That the Ladies' Committee of the Tennis Club did themselves proud on Saturday, having served fifty suppers to the visiting team, our members and friends. Soup to nuts is right. No wonder Delmonicos had to close.

That Charley McKillips and Thorney Grogan swear they will be able to wear their last year's belts after a few days of tennis.

That Walter Cowin sure is making some fine changes in the Club building.

That John Wine and Jim Darville intend to have at least one elephant and a giraffe or a camel at the next Country Fair.

That the bevy of pretty girls under the awning Saturday were all married—and some have kiddies.

That tennis makes you fit.

FAIR AND WARMER

"Well, Bill," asked a neighbor, "Hear the boss has had a fever! How's his temperature today?"

The hired man scratched his head and decided not to commit himself.

"Tain't fer me to say," he replied.

"He died last night."

TOUGH LUCK

Agent—"But, mum, it's a shame to let your husband's life insurance lapse."

Lady (over wash-tub)—"I'll not pay another cent. I've paid regular for eight years an' I've had no ink yet."

This is said to be the chilliest and most backward spring in over a hundred years.

THE TOWER OF BABBLE

By Colium Righter

We have, it may truthfully be stated, always been at one with every admirable purpose for which the Home and School Association was inaugurated. And we shall be sorry to see any change made that would prevent its 1922-23 President serving for the new School year. Here is a man who, as our friend Aragon would say, possesses le savoir faire in times of stress and misunderstanding.

The intent of the Association so fully expressed in a few well-chosen words last week, should clear away any haze lurking in the minds of citizens who oppose it. To effect a "drawing nearer" or a "bringing together" of School and parents sometimes requires the introduction of disagreeable stern measures which fortunately have not been needed in our delicious Borough up to the present.

We recall having read somewhere in our "Life of Samuel Johnson" that success in any school affair implies skill in the management of pupils, but perhaps more decidedly in the necessary ability to manage their parents as well. We imagine it is a matter of half and half, after all is said and done. Professor Wilson with his beautiful and manly faculty can manage the first nine holes quite nicely. But our thought is the remainder of the game must be played by The Home and School Association. Accordingly we rise up on our hind legs and with exquisite dignity and defy the organization to discontinue.

Chirps a guy in TWELFTH NIGHT: "Dost thou think because thou art virtuous there shall be no more cakes or ale?" In other words, does the mere fact that a few hand-picked parents conduct themselves properly in educational matters serve as an indication or warranty that all need of The Home and School Association is gone? Why of course not! Very well then!

For the benefit of the esteemed Baptist denomination of Narberth at large, be it known and fully digested that to settle the matter for all time, we hereby assume the burden of blame and responsibility for the condition in which certain May Fete Ladies found the Y. M. C. A. kitchen recently. Not having received our customary fee from the Woman's Community Club for the peerless advertising, we are wont to give them in this Column, we deliberately and with malice aforethought allowed one pail full of the said Community Club's Tuesday Farewell Luncheon garbage to remain in the aforementioned kitchen. And likewise permitted we to remain in the same place, reposing in a dish pan, one ice cream tub from which the meltings overflowed to form winsome pools about the floor. We are delighted to report the sign reading, "Leave This Place The Way You Found It," was totally ignored. The May Fete Ladies did their duty—in fact more than their duty—which appears to have been in excess of what sundry ladies of other tendencies did. Schenectady papers please copy.

Hon. Highway-and-sewer Wentz wins honorable mention and is awarded the coveted cut glass military brush for his consummate skill in engineering the new sidewalk regulations through. We have many times experienced a peculiar formation and behavior of Narberth pavements upon returning from Lodge meetings after half past eight. Sometimes we thought it was the coffee. Then sometimes we thought it wasn't the coffee. Now we positively know it wasn't. The only trouble is, formerly we only were annoyed by two feet of sidewalk in the tremulous places and now—now there's the whole thing to puzzle with.

It is no more than ordinary politeness that prompts us to acknowledge the letter received from esteemed Apothecary Crane. His facts are presented so cogently and his listed attractions and pictured conveniences are so compelling we are almost led to believe to live in such a drug store would beat living home all hollow. The communication stated the Pharmaceutical and Refreshment Emporium was on our way to and from the station, which is all wrong. We do not utilize the station. So consequently we are neither to or from.

To afford amusement and relaxation for the literary minds of Narberth (which of course takes in every one of them) we include as our vaudeville today a one act comedy entitled "Dialogue" based largely on A. Edward Newton's latest work.

Scene One. Act One. The curtain hoists on a spotless guttenberging establishment. A tall printing ogre stands before an empty desk. He is clothed in ink and matted locks. A graceful Editor is seated to his left. He is costumed in shell rimmed spectacles and a peaceful smile. Draped on chairs about the stage are handsome auburn haired youths, beautiful silvery haired ladies and bundles of unread proof. The printing ogre yanks his locks viciously, waves his hands in the air and looks askance. The graceful Editor wags one foot carelessly and assumes an air indicative of what-are-you-going-to-do-about-it.

Printing Ogre (madly): That gosh-hanged Columbian of yours is late again with his copy this week! G-r-r-r! Hon. Editor (sweetly): Subside, oh Protector of the Press! The gentle Mr. Righter is always late with his copy.

Printing Ogre (raging): I know! I know! But that gob-swatted Columbian is later this week than usual!

Hon. Editor (quietly): Sh-h-h-h, lovely Sir! Stew not thy frame into a tempest! The tender Mr. Righter is always later than usual. EXIT OMNES.

CLEAN UP AND KEEP CLEAN

Madam Fly will be on the job; her great objective, the founding of a numerous family, 150 eggs (if they hatch and mature) will mean 150 flies about equally divided as to sex. Barring accident, within two weeks 75 zealous females will be cheerfully expectant of 75 new families of 150 each, and so they will go on faithfully following out the scriptural admonition: "Be fruitful and multiply."

For a successful issue, the eggs must be placed where there is moisture, warmth and food suitable for the ever-hungry larvae. These conditions are found in the stable, the pig pen, the outside toilet and in accumulations of decaying animal and vegetable matter.

When Madam Fly goes house hunting she turns up her nose, so to speak, at clean yards, tight-lidded, shiny garbage cans, clean stables and screened toilets.

With a sniff of disdain she passes up such places as unfit and directs her search toward more agreeable quarters.

If her lines have fallen in one of those towns where the slogan—Clean Up and Keep Clean—is a rule for everybody and not for the other fellow only, she will be, as they say in the army "out of luck."

Now is the time to throw the monkey wrench, before the machinery is fairly started.

Clean-Up Week just passed. It is easy to Clean Up and Keep Clean which means, get rid of all junk from attic to cellar. Old bottles, jars, tin cans, ashes, decayed fruit and vegetables, dozens of things which are useless and in the way.

The Fly Inspector of the Main Line Citizens' Association is working throughout the Main Line district. Help him to make it possible to have a flyless community.

It is not too late to add your name to the Home and Vacant Lot Gardens. This, too, will help to make a clean community.

OUR OLD SOUP BONE

(To the tune of "Love's Old Sweet Song")

Once in the dear dead days beyond recall,
Food cost you really nothing much at all,
Eggs now are priceless, butter's very high—
Cake, we can never have, and much less pie.
Now we serve milk instead of having cream,
Oh, that we all could wake from this bad dream.

OHORUS:

Just a roll for breakfast,
Only tea for lunch.
And between these hours,
Old dry bread to munch.
If you feel quite hungry
You are not alone,
For to us at twilight
Comes a soup bone,
Comes an old soup bone.Long, long ago, before this all began,
Nobody ever thought of eating bran,
Now we all know for breakfast or for tea,
Bran is a most important property.
Use up your bread crumbs,
Cheat the starving birds.
What we should really eat
Are words, words, words!

"SOMETHING FOR NOTHING"

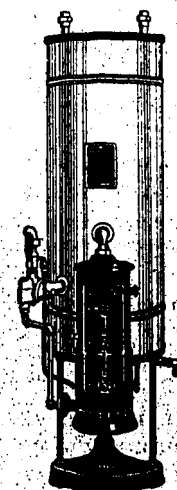

Can't be done! Some people think a water-back in the range or a coil in the furnace gives free hot water. Not so. One-fifth of all the coal you shovel in goes to heating the water. Besides, the cold water has a tendency to chill the fire. Gas heat gives you—not free hot water—but hot water at moderate cost without dirt or work.

GOODBYE ALIBI!

There is no longer any good excuse why any family should not enjoy Automatic Gas Hot Water Service. Why? Because it can now be done with as small an outlay—as great convenience—as enter into the purchase of lesser household furnishings. Just think!

For only $10 down and $10 a month for a full year—$130 in all.

You can enjoy the untold comfort and convenience of a high grade Automatic Gas Water Heater.

THE YEARLY REPORT OF THE COMMUNITY LIBRARY SHOWS INCREASE IN ALL DEPARTMENTS

The Community Library, as a department of the Women's Community Club, and conducted by volunteer workers from that organization, made its annual report at the spring luncheon on Tuesday last. The report showed an appreciable gain over last year, both in attendance and in circulation of books. There was also a satisfying gain in receipts from rental of the new books which provides the greater part of the income for the maintenance of the library, always remembering that the building with light and heat are provided by the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A.

That the receipts do not show the same rate of increase as the attendance and the circulation is an indication that the library has in some measure accomplished its aim. This was to place more and more books at the convenience of the public, free of charge. So long as the regular collection brings in a sufficient income to support the library, the library feels justified in pursuing this purpose.

While statistics are not always interesting, the few given below may serve to indicate the growth of the library from May 15, 1922, to May 15th, 1923:

Books on hand May 15th, 1922	600
Books on hand May 15th, 1923	1700
Attendance for year ending May 15th, 1922	3987
Attendance for year ending May 15th, 1923	9955
Circulation for year ending May 15th, 1922	4021
Circulation for year ending May 15th, 1923	12,810
Receipts for year ending May 15th, 1922	$420.82

LOWER MERION HEALTHIEST

Township and Narberth Have Best Record of Any State Community

Lower Merion Township, Montgomery County, was designated by the Commissioner of Health as one of the model health communities of Pennsylvania.

This makes the thirteenth year the township has maintained its low death rate from contagion. Deducting the deaths from influenza and pneumonia, contagious diseases in the county had an annual death rate of only one and one-eighth per cent.

This probably is due to the fact that the Board makes sanitary inspection once a month of every milk house and dairy in the township, as well as the piggeries. It is also active in analyzing samples of milk, cream, water, ice cream and ice.

Part of the credit for the success in controlling disease in Lower Merion is given to the co-operation between it and neighboring health boards of Haverford Township and Narberth Borough.

BASEBALL TODAY

Narberth plays away from home again today, when the local boys journey to Ardmore to try their luck in the second League game. A goodly aggregation is expected to follow the team. The schedule today, and Wednesday, Memorial Day, is as follows:

May 26—Wayne at Bryn Mawr, Berwyn at Bala-Cynwyd, Narberth at Ardmore.

May 30—Bala-Cynwyd at Wayne, Bryn Mawr at Narberth, Ardmore at Berwyn.

Memorial Day

placed on the upper left as you face the flag.

When the flag is hung in a vertical position the starry field should be on the right.

Don'ts

Don't sew the flag into a soft pillow. Don't use the flag as a silk handkerchief.

Don't use the flag in any form of advertising.

Don't wear the flag as a costume or in any comical way.

Don't arrange the flag in fantastic designs or use it as bunting.

Don't let the flag drag in the dust or touch the ground even at unveilings.

Don't use the flag as a tablecloth.

Don't drape the flag below the seats of a platform, or below a person sitting.

Remember, the Stars and Stripes always claim the place of honor—the forefront—the highest elevation.

When "The Star-Spangled Banner" is played, face the music or flag and stand at attention. Don't move about, put on your coat or converse with your neighbors. Stand quiet for the short time that is required for the anthem to be played.

Baseball

Main Line League, was there, and men like Edgar are pillars of the game. Close by the Narberth bench Bill Newbourg, the painter, sat upon the grass, and no man, not even President Edgar himself, had a better right to sit so close to the players, for Bill, be it understood, is a real friend of the game and supporter of the team. He put up the bulletin board and lettered it; he works nearly every day on the grounds, and never does he send in a bill. The Mickey Burns and the Humphries and the Diehns get the cheers, the McGraws get the money, but the Bill Newbourgs make the grand old national game.

Wayne, 3; Narberth 2

Narberth got off to a poor start last Saturday in the Main Line League series, losing a close game to Wayne, last year's champs. It was a pitcher's battle between Yowell and Hallowell, and "Ep" lost.

The game was no walk-over, as the box score shows. If Narberth can keep up their present brand of ball, the coveted pennant will be much closer than the temporary defeat might indicate.

Wayne, Pa., May 19.—Wayne, last year's champions, opened the Main Line League season with a great victory over Narberth, score, 3-2. Hallowell, for Wayne, and Yowell, for Narberth, engaged in a tight pitchers' battle which was not settled until the eighth inning when Wayne sent across the winning run.

Hallowell let Narberth down with five widely scattered hits, while Wayne could only solve the offerings of Yowell eight times. Spectacular support given both pitchers was a factor in the low scoring.

in all building~

EVEN in the average reinforced, all-concrete building the cost of the cement used is only 6% of the total cost.

Yet Portland Cement is lower in price than any other manufactured product.

Your building material dealer can advise you where it is best to use cement, and where to use other materials. His experience should be utilized in your plans and you can rely on his judgment in the selection of the best brand in any building material line.

This galaxy of music has been planned on the largest scale ever attempted along the Main Line, and the demand for tickets has been spontaneous. Philadelphia, as well as Main Line society leaders, subscribed to the boxes almost before the tickets were printed.

Upon special request, the Committee in charge is holding back a block of tickets to supply the wants of Narberth residents, but only for a limited number of days, and reservations should be made as promptly as possible.
